

RESUMÉ

Kevin J. Dowler

112 Orchard Crescent Regina SK S4S 5B6

Telephone: (306) 584-5954

E mail: kdowler@steamdrive.com

Web address: www.steamdrive.com

Resumé

Accomplishments

Employment History

Education

Interests

Kevin J.
Dowler

close

- on contract to illustrate cartoons for Saskatchewan Registered Nurses Association newsletter
- completed three DVD and video productions for SAHO and its departments including a 30 second animated television commercial to promote SAHO's Health Matters magazine.
- developed and co-taught a 200 level course on using new technologies in education for the University of Regina's education department
- completed the design and production of Canada's first CD-Rom educational set on media literacy
- completed the design and production of an educational set on storytelling for children
- completed the design and production of two company based web sites – Tyndal Stone Media and Heartland Motion Pictures
- completing the production of an educational set on the environment
- designed and taught an ongoing, integrated six-month training program for the multimedia industry
- designed and animated four animation sequences for SGI (Saskatchewan Government Insurance) training video
- completed more than 500 illustrations for a textbook on airphoto interpretation
- completed co-authorship on QuarkXpress and Illustrator Creative Techniques books published by Hayden Books
- an architectural rendering of the University of Regina's main campus
- designed and produced a portable display for the Saskatchewan Archives
- produced the first digital map of Regina, for the city's transportation department

Kevin J.
Dowler

- June 1996 to Present Steamdrive Design, multimedia producer/owner Duties: A freelance business where I offer my skills to clients in various electronic media projects. I also offer training to businesses with clients such as; the provincial government, newspapers and magazines and advertising companies moving into electronic publishing.
- October 2003 to March 2006 SAHO, communications specialist (website) Duties: A staff member of the Member Relations and Communications department. Responsible for web and new media productions for the company and its membership. Also writer, photographer and web designer for the consumer health magazine Health Matters.
- May 1998 to present Tyndal Stone Media, Multimedia Producer Duties: Creating and producing educational CD-ROM media for a Regina based company. The work includes management of a five member production team. Work included management as well as producing writing, scripts, graphics, storyboard, animation, flow charting and web page design.
- Dec. 1995 to April 1998 Media Arts and Education, multimedia department head Duties: Creating, updating and teaching a six-month entry level course for Multimedia Application Specialists. Also responsible for freelance production for professional staff and students. Previously called National Institute of Broadcasting.
- June 1993 to June 1996 Axiom Digital Media Services, graphic designer/manager Duties: A freelance business where I offered my skills to clients in various electronic media projects. As well as design and advertising projects, I also offered training to business. Clients include the provincial government, newspapers and magazines moving into electronic publishing.
- 1992 to 1996 SIAST, electronic publishing instructor Duties: A continuing relief position teaching graphic arts students the use of Macintosh computer equipment in typesetting and electronic publishing design.
- April 1991 to May 1992 TypeSystems, graphic designer Duties: Creating graphics and composing text on Macintosh computers for client's using the company as a design and pre-press production house. Created the news-graphics for the magazine Farm Light & Power.
- March 1992 SIAST, graphic artist Duties: Brought in to help create illustrations for a series of training manuals.

- Present Constantly learning design and the technical upgrades of current and new electronic publishing programs.
- June 2005 Cold Fusion Training Spent one week in Edmonton learning how to implement data base driven web sites using Macromedia's Cold Fusion software
- July 1999 Banff Centre New Media Interactive Workshop Completed a five day workshop on new media tools and their use in transferring information to users.
- Nov. 1995 Manitoba Technical Vocational Instructor Certificate
- Nov. 1993 SIAST Instructional Skills Workshop A week-long course on instructional skills, developing learning materials and management of competency-based education. The course combined instruction and critical reviews of participants' lessons.
- 1984-1986 Southern Alberta Institute of Technology Journalism Arts program.
- 1982 Selkirk College Castlegar, British Columbia Studied Forestry Technology for one year.
- 1981 Southern Alberta Institute of Technology Studied Avionics for one year.

Kevin J.
Dowler

Resumé

FOR FUN

- play with software
- draw
- read
- play with my family
- sail
- walk

Kevin J.
Dowler